MARTIN LIBRARY DEDICATION ATTENDED BY 500 SATURDAY

College of the Pacific's new Irving Martin library is signed for, unsealed but not yet ready to be delivered.

Acceptance of the new $400,000 building was made in behalf of the College of the Pacific last Saturday by President Robert Burns, but the library will not be available to students for use until later this summer when the stacking shelves arrive and the books have been moved.

Dedication ceremonies, attended sparsely by students and overflowing by civic leaders and alumni, were held Saturday in the upstairs reading room of the building. An estimated 500 persons were on hand as Pacific officially received its first building of all time devoted exclusively to use as a library.

KEY ADDRESS

Brief talks were made by civic leaders and alumni. Irving L. Martin, grandson of the man who founded the Stockton Record and after whom the library was named, delivered the key address, remarking that the paper and the school have always been closely related and would undoubtedly continue to remain that way in the future.

The modern library, which even includes full kitchen facilities, is expected to be a big boon to summer session students as it is fully air-conditioned. Space for studying is nearly double that of the building now being used as a library.

Dr. Burns also added the past practice of having to discard one book to make room for each new one obtained, now can be stopped.

GIFT PRESENTED

A gift of $1000 in honor of Dr. and Mrs. George Colliver was received Saturday from the Chinese Christian Center. The fund is to be used to buy books in the field of religion and Chinese culture. Dr. Colliver has for 18 years served as senior pastor of the Chinese Center, while Mrs. Colliver is an assistant librarian here on the campus as well as doing much work with the local people of Chinese ancestry.

After the dedication, the visitors took tours of the new building. An oil painting of the late Mr. Martin holds a place of honor on the wall near the stairs. It was his original gift of $125,000 which started the library building fund.

Pacific Profile Ends Series

Pacific's television presentation "Pacific Profiles" will showcase the Pacific Theatre on the final program in the series, Monday, May 23.

The show will deal with the steps involved in the production of a play, from the first reading to the dress rehearsal. DeMarcus Brown, director of the Pacific Theatre, will explain and demonstrate the "evolution" of a play by using Pacific Theatre players.

Tune in Channel 13, Monday, 3:30 for the last "Pacific Profile's" show.

Officers Elected By Newman Club

New officers of Newman Club were initiated at St. Mary's Church on May 16. Father Ornoz, COP Newman Club chaplain, conducted the affair in conjunction with Jack Mansfield, outgoing president. After the ceremony dessert was served.

New officers are president, Marvin Taylor; vice-president, Ron Schmidt; secretary, Jan Robertson; treasurer, July Auld.

If anyone is interested in joining Newman Club, which many members have found to be an ardent part of college life, they may get in touch with any of the above members.

At the AWS banquet May 12, the AAUW awards and the outstanding senior woman award were presented. Nadine Reasoner received the outstanding senior woman award and Donna Betz, Dorothy Blais, Jeanette Olson, and Barbara Fortna received the AAUW awards.

Allan Bacon To Deliver Lecture

Professor Allan Bacon will deliver the fifth annual Faculty Research Lecture Monday evening at 7:00 o'clock in Anderson Social Hall.

Chairman of the organ department in the Pacific Conservatory since 1922, the teacher-performer will speak on "The Music of the Future." The address will follow a faculty banquet, but the lecture is open to all without charge for admission regardless of attendance at the formal dinner occasion.

Bacon, who has traveled on three transcontinental organ concert tours and delivered hundreds of piano lecture-recitals during his teaching years at Pacific, has given few advance clues as to what he sees in the music world of the future. He has hinted that the electronic production of music will come in for some comment.

Next Tuesday, three Pacific students will be the speakers.

ALUMNI DAY

PRESIDENT BURNS REPORTS ON FUTURE PLANS FOR COP; NEW ALUMNI HEAD ELECTED

Marlitt P. Stark of San Jose is the new president of the Pacific Alumni Association.

The one-time Tiger basketball star, graduate of 1927, succeeds Robert Atkinson of Oakland who has held the office for two years. Stark is assistant sale manager of the California Prune and Apricot Growers Association.

The new alumni leader was installed at a banquet in Anderson Hall May 14 which climaxed Alumni Day. Both Stark and his wife, the former Frances Russell, a classmate and star of Pacific theatre, have served previously on the statewide alumni council. Their son, Ronald, is now a Pacific undergraduate and member of the basketball and baseball teams.

Alumni representing a 66 year span participated in the program of the day. Earliest graduate in attendance was Alice May Newcomb of Hollywood, class of 1889. Members of the class of 1955, who will graduate June 12, were inducted into the Association. Earlier in the day, the alumni heard lectures by a half dozen professors and attended the dedication of the Irving Martin Library.

are Robert T. Monogan of Tracy, vice-president; Howard Lewis of Stockton, treasurer; and Virginia Crittenden of Stockton, secretary.

Six others were elected to two year terms on the alumni council: Ted Clark, Mel Corren and Skipper Yee, all of Stockton; Otto Dockter of Lodi, Esther Harlow of Watsonville, and Monroe Hess of South San Francisco. Glen Odale of Vallejo was named council alternate.

Speakers at the banquet included Elliott J. Taylor, C.O.P. director of admissions, who reported applications for enrollment next fall are three months ahead of the pace of a year ago. He said reservations for on-campus living space are already nearly at capacity for the coming year.

Welcoming the class of 1955 into the Association, dean of the college Lloyd M. Bertholf delivered a humorous analysis of the group of nearly 300 degree candidates. Don Johnston responded for the class. He was named permanent class secretary.

President Robert E. Burns spoke on the future of Pacific, looking to a time when he thinks the campus may jump the Calaveras River, which would become a beautified, developed area. He said the College holds future rights to purchase Western Pacific Railroad property through which a spur track now runs, separating the campus from the Calaveras levee. The spur, he said, may sometime be removed when the railroad has other access to Stockton channel industrial areas.

Burns told alumni the College this year can begin to use the income from nearly $600,000 in recent bequests, restricted to scholarship endowment, to aid outstanding students at Pacific. More than $400,000 of this endowment is from the estate of the late Erma Boyce of Lodi, graduate of Pacific.

Burns reported a trustee-faculty committee is working on the long range character of the College. While their report has not been returned, he thinks they may suggest enrollment be established at about 1750 full time students. There are now about 1000.

Toward accommodating such an increase, Burns outlined a $500,000 dormitory expansion program which would add space for more than 100 women and some 225 men. The plan is under study now, he said. Meanwhile, space for 30 coeds will be added to Zeta Phi sorority house this summer.

Following the banquet, members elected new officers. They are: president, Peter Knoles; moderator, Arlen Gray and secretary, Edward Rankin.

Christie Roberts was in charge of food for the event. After the election, Dr. Nietman dismissed the group.

After college—
Do you want a chance to learn as you earn?

Food retailing careers at Safeway offer young men this double advantage. They pay well to start ($300 a month in this area) and give you on-the-job and group training that prepares you to "move up the ladder." Here are some interesting facts on these careers.

Q. Will the subjects you're studying now help you get ahead?

A. Yes, many things you're studying will help you in a food retailing career. Economics, industrial relations, accounting, English, public speaking and food technology are a few of the subjects you'll find particularly helpful.

Q. Why does Safeway stress "learning on the job"?

A. While school preparation is quite helpful in a Safeway career, the essential skills and broad knowledge food retailing demands come from experience and training on the job. Safeway Managers, assisted by specialists, closely supervise the employee's training program. They see that it's practical, thorough and a boost toward future promotion.

Q. What else makes Safeway a good place to work?

A. Pleasant working conditions, pleasant people to work with...health and life insurance, a retirement program...profit-sharing opportunities for eligible career employees—these are some of the things Safeway people like about their careers. And they're things worth thinking about as you look ahead to a career.

FOOTBALL FORECAST:

COP PIGSKIN PUSHERS SIZED UP FOR FALL SCHEDULE; LOOKS GOOD

Twenty-five athletes have offered their services to backfield coach John Rohde this spring. The breakdown includes five quarterbacks, six left halves, seven right halves, and seven fullbacks. The backbone of this group will be furnished by nine returning lettermen. Coach Rohde boasts a returning letterman in each position, including four monogram winners, Ted Case, Ernie Lindo, Dutch Grose, and Lynn Swanson, at fullback. The starting nods in the backfield for spring practice were won by a quartet of seasoned men, Bill Jacobs at quarterback, Don Cornell at left half, Ken Swearingen at right half, and Swanson at fullback. John Rohde emphasized the fact that there will undoubtedly be changes in the starting group by the opener next fall.

THREATS

At quarterback, for instance, the talented Del Whittier, a JC all-American from Yuba, could easily oust Jacobs, who hasn't yet returned to the form he showed in his sophomore year. Junior Reynosa, Chuck Chatfield, and Arlen Digitale are all potent threats at this position.

At left half J.B. Girard could be the spoiler and move out the steady Cornell. Girard, a converted quarterback, is recognized as a good runner and an able pass defender. Bill Swor, a veteran of the 1951 campaign could easily hold down the top spot. Gene Peterson, Larry Jacobson, and Bob "One Punch" Giardina are all factors to be reckoned with.

TOP MEN

Right half boasts several top men. Although Swearingen was given the starting nod, Ferrell Funston, Dewey Tompkins, Tom Perry, and Joe Delgado are all rated outstanding performers. Any one of the above men could possibly bump Swearingen from his number one spot. These five men are backed up by Joe Gole-nor and Tom Green, both hustling, aggressive backs, but a little short on experience.

The fullback spot is perhaps the pride of "Tigerville." Boasting four lettermen, one returning non-letterman, and two JC transfers, the power spot is certainly one of the strongest positions on the squad Swanson has the starting position and most observers believe he will keep it. However, Don Bossert, Ted Case, Emil Dattola, Dutch Grose, Ben Parks and Ernie Lindo are all within striking distance.

All in all, COP has accumulated the finest array of backfield talent in its history. Things look fine in this department for next season.

JC TRANSFERS ADD STRENGTH TO 1955 COP FOOTBALL SQUAD

Pacific, the little school with the big-time schedule, has added eleven new JC transfers to their ever-growing varsity.

They are: ends, Ken Cornell, El Camino JC; Walt Langford, Monterey JC; and Jim Mastelotto, Yuba JC; lineman, Ron Smith, Modesto JC; Tony Ortega, Stockton College; backs, Don Bossert, Santa Rosa JC; Farrel Funston, Sacramento JC; Gene Peterson, Modesto JC; Ben Parks, Stockton College; Junior Reynosa, Stockton College; and Del Whittier, Yuba JC.

Included in this list are two JC all-Americans, Walt Langford, a glue-fingered end, and Del Whittier, a pass-throwing sensation who will be out to oust veteran Bill Jacobs from the quarterback spot.

Probably the JCer showing the most promise thus far in spring practice has been fullback Don Bossert. The stubby-legged Bossert, who also specializes in place kicking, could be the answer to Myers' prayers as he is one of the hardest driving backs on the squad and may be just what the doctor ordered to go along with the many scabbards on the team.

Any one of the transfers has a good chance to break into the starting lineup as no one has a starting position nailed down.

WALT'S CORNER

"Hey, Maron, Coach Nick's here to see you."

BY SKIP

Dormitory names are a sorry lot. Points of the compass should never be used to name buildings. For example, if West Hall, South Hall, and North Hall aren't sorry names, then I guess we haven't heard any!

We need a change. All other colleges have good names for their dormitories, like Froth Hall, Booth Hall, or Pythias Hall, to name a few. Just what kind of memories can you have when you look back upon your days at "West" Hall, or "North" Hall or even "South" Hall? Ugh. Your friends won't be impressed. But if you tell them you spent many a happy hour at Crunch Hall or Munch Hall, to use the imagination, you can be sure they will be hanging on your elbow waiting for the next fond memory to be recalled.

Well, let's delve into the problem. First of all, a good change would be to call South Hall, West Hall, as South Hall is now west of Irving Martin Library, and the Conservatory, too, for that matter. On the other hand, a canopy or tunnel or something could be constructed to join South and West Hall, and thereby call it Soust Hall. Also, if need be, North Hall could merge with West Hall and in the end be called Nest Hall, and if that wouldn't be cozy, then I'd like to hear about it!

However, North Hall might better take the name Maasberg Hall, dubbed after Bill Maasberg who tried out for football right after Pacific moved its campus from San Jose to Stockton.

These are but suggestions. We do not want directions for names. West Hall would be a good name, nevertheless, if it were named after Mae West. Everybody should sign a petition tomorrow to have dormitory names changed. Turn them in at the building, and all suggestions are welcomed. Yes sir, there are a lot of possibilities.

Top COP Students To Be Honored

A culmination of the past year's activities comes next Thursday when awards are made to outstanding students for the 1954-55 school year.

The emphasis for the awards is on seniors, although not restricted to members of the graduating class. The highlights of the session, scheduled for 11 a.m. in the Auditorium, is the honoring of the outstanding senior man and outstanding senior woman. Selections are made on contributions to campus life rather than on scholastic achievement.

Also to be named are the outstanding senior debater, the top senior in journalism, the senior athlete with the highest grade average and the top junior in the radio department.

A new award this year is to be made to the outstanding track and field athlete, who will receive a permanent trophy donated by retiring Coach Earl Jackson.

The WRA plans to present its cup and the band and athletic teams are to be honored.

Marla Ann Million is in charge of the program.

"Wizard of Oz" Proves Fun Time

By GEORGE FELKER

It's fun time again around Pacific Theatre. This note was injected by the opening of "The Wizard of Oz" last Saturday afternoon.

Doyle Mraz directed the show, emphasizing color and movement. There is an appropriate over-exaggeration for the children and lots of adroit sophistication for the adults.

Children's Theatre so often lends itself to creativeness on the part of the actor that the regular theater does not. There was proof of this in the wonderful portrayal of Jerry Valenta as the cowardly lion. He is closely followed in performance stature by Roland Kerr as the scarecrow, Ted Eliopoulos as the tin woodsman, Fred Kellogg as the Wizard, and Iris Carter as the witch of the West.

As the wonderful Dorothy, Peggy Grey gets the short end of a mediocre script, but emerges in top-notch form. Here is a charming personality. She is given an able assist by David Miller's Toto.

Solid performances are also contributed by Marion Meadowcroft as the witch of the North, Tom McKenzie as the guardian of the gate of the South, and three delightful munchkins, Peggy Dawar, Virginia Knox, and Sharon Eggerts.

The show has a number of dances by Dorothy Blais that are for the most part pleasing, imaginative, and tend to further the charming characterizations and plot.

With finals coming on, it would be an excellent idea to take advantage of this show. Take off from your studies and join the Pacific Players in their excursion into Oz. It will be well worth it. The show will be repeated tonight at 7:30 and tomorrow at 2:30.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to the newly elected Pacific Student Association officers. The job ahead is a big one — one without the honors commensurate to the work you will do. You will be following in the steps of some of the ablest student leaders that we have been privileged to have had in some time. This will tend to make one aspect of your job a little easier. The ground-work has been laid and the wheels of progress have started to roll. But you are also faced with the challenge of keeping that progress in motion.

Your debt is to the students of COP who have chosen you as the persons most qualified to carry on the important work of representing them. We feel confident that you will meet the challenge and prove worthy of the trust placed in you.

Congratulations also to the outgoing members of the senate for a job well done. We could single out many instances of outstanding service, such as the jobs done by Todd Clark in the unrewarding roll of student affairs commissioner and Don Fado, in whose lap all the responsibility lay. However it will suffice to say an all-inclusive, "well done."

NEXT YEAR

Our copy editor served as editor of last week's WEEKLY as one phase of our plan for preparing for next year's staff. That staff will be chosen in the near future. There is always an opening for anyone who seriously thinks he would like to work on the paper. Pre-registration is now going on so if you have had any experience in newspaper work we suggest you look into the possibility of signing up for journalism.
